

"I was outraged when I heard of the President's proposal to force private insurance companies to pay for the healthcare of veterans who have been injured while serving our country. These men and women were promised healthcare when they signed up to serve our great nation, and it is unconscionable that our country might not pay for their service-connected health needs."

"I will do everything I can to fight this proposal and to stand up for the finest service members in the world. Since I was first elected to Congress, I have supported legislation to keep the promises that were made to Americans when they first signed up to serve our country. They deserve no less."
